FSDF Associate Membership

How can you benefit from membership of the FSDF?

- ✓ Unrivalled networking opportunities through regional and national events.
- ✓ A full calendar of events providing a range of exhibition and sponsorship opportunities.
- ✓ Access to FSDF member database.
- ✓ Distribution of PR content and marketing communications to FSDF membership.

However, it would be simple for us to make statements such as these but don't just take our word for it. Here are some comments from three of our Associate Members.

“ A leading MHE supplier:
As a business we have been involved for a number of years and have developed business relationships. We use the opportunity to stay abreast of current issues and incentives along with the networking scenario. ”

“ A major brand owner in the air-con sector:
Membership enables to keep informal contact with potential users of our air-conditioning equipment. The visibility helps us explain what we have done successfully for other members. It enables us to meet with many cold store operators in one place. ”

“ A manufacturer of equipment for distribution centres:
It is the only organization that gives our company an entry into the inner workings of the frozen food industry and is an ideal forum to meet similar minded people with similar interests. ”

Focus, dedication and service. FSDF is practical and forward-looking, serving the interests of both the cold storage industry and its customers.
